

E. Edward Okpa II

Edward Okpa is the owner and principal of Integrated Valuation, a commercial real estate consulting firm with expertise in appraisal, property tax, land use development, market studies and so forth. He obtained a college education from University of Science and Technology Port Harcourt, Nigeria, majoring in Estate Management/Land Economics and took additional courses at University of North Texas, Denton, after coming to the U.S. in mid 1980s.

Okpa is a certified Appraiser in Texas and belongs to the Appraisal Institute as well as International Right of Way Association. He was employed by Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation in 1988; first as Property Manager but later as Regional Appraisal Manager until the summer of 1990 when he resigned to go into business for himself. His work experience in this industry includes assignments in Africa and the U.S. He has written several papers on housing development and land use development as a vehicle for enhanced and increased revenue source in a developing country.