

Abstract: Expressways to the New Airport of Hong Kong

The paper is about a number of expressways built to serve the new airport of Hong Kong which commissioned its operation in 1998. The paper discusses about the reason to build the new airport. The project scope, benefits, cost, timeline, management organization as well as the method of procurement.